VERSION 1.1 DECEMBER 15, 2020

SOUTH

THE NORTH CAROLINA COCKFIGHTING INDUSTRY

AN INVESTIGATION OF NORTH CAROLINA'S INVOLVEMENT IN THE COCKFIGHTING INDUSTRY

SUMMARY AND OVERVIEW

---

North Carolina is the number two pork-producing state in the nation and also the second largest grower of turkeys. It is also one of the nation's top states for producing fighting birds, despite unambiguous state and federal laws that bar possessing and selling animals for fights in the state and beyond. Link to the law: Click here.

There are occasional arrests of fighting enthusiasts, including two individuals arrested recently in Catham County at a cockfight in progress, and 70 individuals with North Carolina addresses apprehended at a fight over the border in Virginia. (Article 1)(Article 2) But most cockfighters continue to operate without consequence. The biggest part of their business involves the illegal trafficking of fighting animals for export.

This investigative report reveals illegal shipments of fighting animals from North Carolina to Guam and to other nations, including the Philippines and Vietnam. An Animal Wellness Action (AWA) and Animal Wellness Foundation (AWF) review of shipping records of fighting animals to Guam found that North Carolina cockfighters were collectively among the biggest “growers” of fighting birds moved to the tiny U.S. territory of Guam, which has for decades been a Pacific Island hub for cockfighting.

We determined that birds were shipped from North Carolina to Guam without food or water on a multi-day journey of 9,000 miles, illegally transported through the U.S. mail. Animals are fraudulently described as “brood fowl,” when in fact they are destined for fighting pits. The masquerade that the North Carolina cockfighters are shipping “brood fowl” – rather than birds for fighting – does not withstand scrutiny. Guam has no broiler bird or laying hen industry, and it has no show fowl circuit. Our report also documents that the people shipping the fighting animals are unmistakably involved in illegal fighting, and that the Guam shipment of animals nearly 9,000 miles could only be justified because other cockfighters are willing to pay as much as $2,000 for a bird with a good bloodline. The offspring of birds who win major derbies are the ones coveted by other cockfighters, who can win cash prizes and trophies if their birds prevail in derbies, such as the World Slasher Cup in the Philippines.

A review of avian shipping records to Guam from U.S. states found more than 500 probable illegal shipments of fighting birds during a four-year period ending in September 2020. There were 137 Guamanians who imported nearly 9,000 fighting birds onto Guam, and 60 “exporters” who sent birds from U.S. states to Guam. North Carolina cockfighting farms rank fourth in the number of birds shipped to Guam, only behind Oklahoma, California, and Hawaii and just ahead of Alabama. These five states accounted for 52 percent of all cockfighting roosters sent to Guam during the period we examined.

Since 2002, it has been illegal to transport birds from any state to any other jurisdiction in the U.S. or abroad.

Under federal law, it is a crime to:

- Knowingly sponsoring or exhibiting in an animal fighting venture;
- Knowingly attending an animal fighting venture, or knowingly causing an individual who has not attained the age of 16 to attend an animal fighting venture;
- Knowingly buying, selling, possessing, training, transporting, delivering or receiving any animal for the purposes of having the animal participate in an animal fighting venture;
- Knowingly using the mail service of the U.S. Postal Service, or any “written, wire, radio televisions or other form of communications in, or using a facility of, interstate commerce,” to advertise an animal for use in an animal fighting venture, or to advertise a knife, gaff, or other sharp instrument designed to be attached to the leg of a bird for use in an animal fighting venture, or to promote or in any other manner further an animal fighting venture except as performed outside the U.S.;
- Knowingly selling, buying, transporting, or delivering in interstate or foreign commerce “a knife, a gaff, or any other sharp instrument” designed or intended to be attached to the leg of a bird for use in an animal fighting venture.

Penalties for each violation of any one of these provisions allows for a maximum of 5 years in prison and a $250,000 fine for perpetrators, except for an adult attending an animal fighting venture. Penalties for adult attendance are 1 year in prison and a $5,000 fine. An “animal fighting venture” involves “a fight conducted or to be conducted between at least 2 animals for purposes of sport, wagering, or entertainment, except that the term animal fighting venture shall not be deemed to include any activity the primary purpose of which involves the use or one or more animals in hunting another animal.”

North Carolina’s Congressional delegation has been consistently supportive of the enactment of federal anti-animal fighting policies. A House amendment to fortify the federal law to ban cockfighting and dogfighting everywhere in the U.S., including in the U.S. territories, attracted the support of 12 of 14 members of the North Carolina delegation, with only Virginia Fox, R-5th, and Rep. Butterworth, D-1st, opposing the provision.

Based on our multi-faceted investigation, we have reason to believe that the individuals named in this report are engaged in prohibited activities. We examined satellite images of their gamefarms, captured social media posts and images, mined cockfighting magazines and other primary industry sources, and reviewed videos from cockfighting YouTube pages providing tours of their farms and marketing their birds to the Philippines. In addition, we have received tips from local citizens of North Carolina, concerned about animal abuse, and illegal activity in their communities.

The following table lists exporters found to have shipped birds from their gamefarms in North Carolina to Guam. In addition, we also list additional gamefarms in NC found to advertise shipping to other states and other cockfighting hubs of the world like the Philippines,

Re: Cedar Creek 2018
Cedar Creek fowls can compete at the top level today. We are using Jeff Hudspeth fowl for many years now.

Note that "LK" in the following post means "long knife" and "SK" means "short knife":

Re: Cedar Creek Greys -- Jeff Hudspeth
Lurena,

thanks for the connection.

I am having best results with his Leipers; pure and straight (properly aged), Leiper X Kelso or Kelso X Leiper, and Leiper X Banogon (my White Kelso concoction). Jeff's Leipers and its crosses have won me 4 and 5 cock Derbies.

My observation, Jeff's Leipers have the CUT and smart which are best for LK.

Lately, i am bringing out Leiper X Roundhead, and Greys X Banogon Grey pullets.

Regretfully, i am not doing good with the Leiper X Sweater or Sweater X Leiper crosses; and i tried with different Sweater lines. Must be the too much Hatch in the blood or other factors. Tremendous power but not much cut. Perhaps these can be good with SK.

Just please, I am sharing these statements in honor of Jeff's lines, not for personal reasons. Jeff's lines can improve the %s. But no matter what, its what we do ourselves to his fowls that determines our own results and having said that, other breeders lines as well.

Thanks. . .

Rickc

Quotes from this interview include:

- “My BlueFace bloodline is a hard-hitting fowl, they’re known to be gentle birds with a huge breast and big legs. My yellow-leg-hatch is very smart and accurate cutters. I have a few other lines that I love and they all bring something different to the table.”
- “I have sold fowl all over the US, here lately I’ve had a lot of interest out of Mexico, the great Philippines has always been a popular area and I’ve been getting some great feedback from Vietnam.”

- Host says, "So you been winning a lot on this side of town?" – Au responds, "yes".
- "I spar everyday."
- "I band all the chickens that are sparring good."
- "If I pick one on entry, I go spar them all the way until the day I fight...no rest."
- "I'm more of an aggressive fighter."
- "5 derbies this year so far."
- Host says, "...you still have a regular job?" – Au responds, "Not right now. No, because I'm winning."
- "My kids walk with me in the pit."
- Host states, "taking about Hawaii and the Philippines. I heard that, number one, you have a five-minute limit...in the Philippines it's ten minutes, draw. Here, only five minutes, it's a draw." Au responds, "Yes".

BRYSON AU (Continued)

- Host states, "...and then if you send gamecocks from Hawaii to the Philippines it's going to cost you a lot of money...so you send them by post office to California and then send it through Willy Dunca, or Henry Navarro, or Dom Corpus to the Philippines, it's a lot cheaper." – Au responds, "Yes". (Note – Com Corpus is included in our CA investigative report)
- Host says, "How long have you been showing." Au responds, "I been fighting since I was a little kid, but I really got into it in 2003."

Interview he did on BNTV in 2018. BNTV is a cockfighting broadcaster in the Philippines whose hosts toured the U.S showcasing what they consider to be the best gamefowl farms. This footage has since been deleted by the source but was saved prior to deletion: Click here to view the interview

Hosts describe this as the largest farm they've been to in Hawaii

- "They do well here for as long as I can remember in the long knife." (talking about the pumpkin bloodline he has)
- Host asks, "What is your market?" He says, "Mostly local and Guam."

Stoney also calls John Cambra an uncle. (John Cambra is included in this report and is seen in this video) and he states that, "My brother he also breeds and fights also too...if he needs something then I give hm or vice versa. Just to help keep the birds just how we like them, you know, winning."

- “Far as their ability...high flying good cutting roosters, very game.”
- “Very good for long knife.”
- “Depends if I’m training roosters, then it takes longer.” (discussing time spent on raising roosters)
